Welcome to the Go Coco Scottish Curling Senior Championships

24 - 28 February 2016

Lanarkshire Ice Rink

On behalf of The Royal Caledonian Curling Club it is my privilege and pleasure to welcome you to Lanarkshire Ice Rink, Hamilton for the 2016 Go Coco Scottish Curling Senior Championships. These Championships see the top curlers compete for the honour of representing Scotland at the 2016 Women's and Men's World Curling Senior Championships in Sweden.

Our very grateful thanks to our title sponsor Go Coco for their very generous sponsorship of both these Championships and the Scottish Curling Championships at Perth last week.

The RCCC would also like to thank all the umpires, time clock operators, volunteers and Lanarkshire Ice Rink staff for their time and hard work to ensure the success of these Championships.

I have no doubt that the 2016 Go Coco Scottish Curling Senior Championships will be a memorable experience for all involved. I wish everyone, competitors, organisers, volunteers and fans alike, good luck and great curling.

Go Coco are proud to sponsor the 2016 Scottish Curling Senior Championships.

Coconut water is known for its functional health benefits in pre and post exercise, assisting naturally in hydration and recovery which is why it's a favourite of many Scottish sports men and women.

We are delighted to support Scotland's curling athletes in their bid for national and international glory and hope that Go Coco will keep them fully hydrated throughout the championships.

We wish competitors every success and spectators an enjoyable week of curling.

NEW TO CURLING?

know the score!

Two teams take turns delivering stones down the ice, attempting to get closer to the centre of the target or 'house' than their opponents.

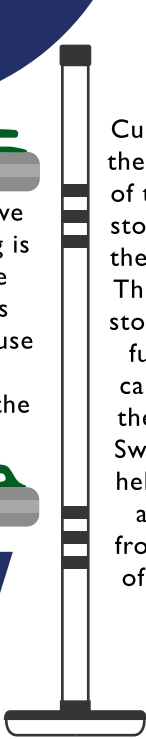

Each team consists of four players called the lead, second, third and skip, who each deliver two stones. The skips are the team captains and direct their team on which shots to play.

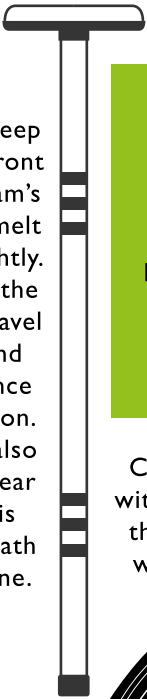

When all 16 stones have been played, an 'end' of curling is complete. A team scores one point for each stone which is closer to the centre of the house than any of the opposition's stones. Only stones touching the house can be counted.

The winner is the team with the most points at the end of the game.

Curlers sweep the ice in front of their team's stones to melt the ice slightly. This helps the stone to travel further and can influence the direction. Sweeping also helps to clear any debris from the path of the stone.

The hammer placed on the scoreboard at the start of the game denotes who has last stone in the first end. For the rest of the game the team that scores in the previous end plays first in the next end.

Curlers wear special shoes with one sliding sole to allow them to slide down the ice when delivering the stone.
